

Job Coaching For The Paraprofessional

Participants of this training will follow online curriculum from the University of Wisconsin Transition Improvement Grant (TIG). After reviewing the material, we will meet every other week to discuss the information presented and the weekly activities. Participants in this training should expect to walk away understanding the roles of the job coach, as well as strategies for communication, building relationships, how to handle behavior on the job, and prompting and fading. Leaving this training you should feel even more confident in working on the job with students. The class will be capped at 8 participants.
