

Introduction to the SCERTS Model

This workshop will introduce the SCERTS® (Social Communication, Emotional Regulation, Transactional Support) model, a comprehensive, multidisciplinary educational approach designed for autistic learners and learners with social emotional learning differences. The day will begin with an introduction of the neuro-developmental foundation of SCERTS, a discussion of the empirical evidence, and the core domains. Next, the content will shift to writing outcomes and identifying the key role of the interactive partners in providing support for learners who are pre-symbolic communicators, at emerging language stages (using speech or multimodal forms of language), and at conversational levels.
